Unhappy Women!

No woman can be happy when her health is undermined. No woman can have good health while she suffers from female weakness, inflammation, ulceration or any disease of the delicate womanly organs. Nervous, sleepless, fretful, suffering in body and mind, she does not live but only exists.

More than a half a million such women have found a perfect and permanent cure for their diseased condition in the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Women cured by this remedy say it is a "wonderful medicine," so perfectly does it restore them to health and comeliness.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither does it contain opium, cocaine, nor any other harmful drug. It is in the strictest sense, an honest, temperance medicine. Its ingredients are purely vegetable, and it will agree with the most delicate constitution.

☞ Don't be hypnotized, or over persuaded, into accepting a substitute. This medicine has a record that's worth far more than any difference in price.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, either personally or by letter, absolutely without charge or fee, thus avoiding the unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations and obnoxious local treatments considered necessary by many local practitioners. All correspondence treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivaled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

WEAK HEARTS

are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol

digests what you eat, takes the strain off of the heart, and contributes nourishment, strength and health to every organ of the body. Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the Stomach and Digestive Tract, Nervous Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach.

After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.
MRS. LORING NICHOLS, Penn Yan, N. Y.

I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.

THE TWO ADMIRALS.

The London Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent wires:

Admiral Togo called up Admiral Rojestvensky at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of June 2 at Sasebo in the naval hospital. All that I am permitted to say about this momentous interview is that the attitude of Togo was one of gentleness and meekness. With evident anxiety he solemnly and quietly condoled with Rojestvensky in his present sad circumstances, asked about his wounds and spoke in softest tones. It was a great scene. Only the two admirals and surgeons were present. In the white and orderly ward Rojestvensky, who was wrapped in bandages and was pale faced and haggard, raised up his body from the bed and showed marvelous patience as he rested on his elbow.

Togo told him it was not for such acknowledgment that he had come. After a few minutes' conversation, both speaking indifferent English, Togo, treading lightly, left the ward. It is not for us to intrude too much on this simple incident. Rojestvensky was wounded in six places, and it is reported that one of his legs will have to be amputated.

Officers of the Japanese destroyed Sasanami give the following particulars of the capture of the Russian admirals:

"At 10 o'clock on the morning of May 28 we, together with a certain warship, were ordered to search for the remnants of the enemy. We put on full steam and darted here and there over the battle waters.

"Eventually ahead of us we saw two streaks of smoke against the bright horizon. Going at a speed of 20 knots we steamed after the smoke. We discovered two of the enemy's destroyers cutting through the water for all they were worth. As we near them we opened fire from all our guns. One of the Russian destroyers forged ahead. It was impossible to catch her and she escaped. The second one did not change her course and, moreover, did not return our cannonading. We watched our little enemy carefully for some moments, and then saw a sudden movement aboard. To the top of the mast ran a white flag and astern fluttered the emblem of the Red Cross. We signaled:

"'What is your condition.'

"A few moments' delay occurred and then little signal flags appeared.

"We read the Russian reply as follows:

"'We are damaged. We have been shot through the engine room. We have Rojestvensky on board. We are short of fresh water. Altogether there is the Admiral and his staff aboard.'

"We were quite surprised, and while we could not help expressing our sympathy, we could not conceal our delight at securing such a prize. We thought it all too strange. Examining officers were told off, and with drawn swords their escorts, with bayonets fixed, went over to the Russian destroyer, which we could make out as the Biedovy. Besides Rojestvensky we found the chief and eight other of the officers of his staff. We were amazed at the haul.

"We were about to take the necessary steps to attend to the wounded when a throng of Russian officers assembled around Rojestvensky, clasped their hands as it in prayer, and exclaimed:

"'Please be merciful! The wounds of Rojestvensky are serious. If you remove him to the Japanese ship these wounds may be broken and he will fall into a dangerous state. Please, we pray you, leave him as he is now.'

"Rojestvensky was lying at the bottom of the destroyer amid a pool of fresh blood.

"He was in a semi-conscious state. The scene was an impressive one. After a while, being pitiful at the condition of the Russian officer, we felt sore at heart, and after a short consulation we decided to grant the request.

"At 10 knots we steamed for refuge. The waves were high, washing over the bows of both ships. The bow line strained and creaked and twice it broke. Night came on and it was pitch dark. With dawn came some relief, but the hours had been full of pain and anxiety. When the morning light widened our horizon we met our warship Akoski. We signaled that we had captured Admiral Rojestvensky, and obeying orders conveyed him to Sasebo.

"As soon as the Russian officers and sailors, already prisoners at our base, heard that their admiral was our captive, they were filled with anguish and heart-rending scenes were witnessed."

MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 5, 1905.

THE OPERA HOUSE contained an average sized audience Saturday night to hear Governor Montague urge his claims for Mr. Martin's seat in the United States Senate. In point of enthusiasm the meeting was not a success, there being numbers of empty seats in the gallery as well as many in the main auditorium. A band discoursed air after air until about twenty minutes to nine o'clock, when the certain was rung up, presenting Governor Montague, a delegation of Alexandrians and several residents of Alexandria and Fairfax counties. While no one will deny the fact that Governor Montague is ordinarily an entertaining speaker, it must have been apparent to his friends that he was not at his best Saturday night. He began in a labored manner; his speech, at times savored of demigogy, and throughout it was punctuated with pauses and hesitations. Most of the applause was feeble and forced, although at times some of his more enthusiastic admirers prolonged it. The audience seemed occasionally slow to appreciate the points the speaker attempted to make and the pauses in awaiting acclamations was painful. With no intention of minimizing the Governor's power upon the rostrum, it can be said with truth that he failed on Saturday night to utter a single word in criticism of Senator Martin that could not have been controverted successfully by any man of intelligence in the hall. The Governor endeavored throughout his speech to disparage the labors of the junior Senator in behalf of Virginia and the country at large, but appealed to his own record as Attorney General and Governor of the Old Dominion, not forgetting to let his audience know that he had frequently refused to use the pardoning power—evidently referring to the fact that that he had allowed McCue to be hanged. The Governor expatiated on the personnel of the United States Senate, most severely criticizing some of its members, and to many it seemed that should he be elected to that body he would find he had sawed himself from the limb by entering the Senate an avowed enemy of many men he had never before met and with whom he could have no influence. The Governor made some curious breaks. He said he did not desire to go to the Senate if he had nothing more to bank upon than influence with the dominant party—a thrust at Senator Martin—and talked much about sentiment which he thought should be a prominent bump upon the cranium of a representative man, quoting Edmund Burke to strengthen his assertion. Appropriations or departmental work for the State did not cut much of a figure in the Governor's platform, but he said that soon momentous issues would come before the Senate and implied that the junior Senator would not be equal to the occasion, but that the speaker would be. As stated above, the speech was a failure so far as it abounded in anything convincing and fell far below most of the Governor's previous addresses in Alexandria. In fact there was an apparent disappointment on the faces of those in the audience who had failed to realize an anticipated entertainment.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS are still causing the new possessors trouble. Part of the dismembered Russian fleet has put in at Manila and friction between the United States and Japan is likely to occur. The Russian ships are in no condition to proceed and their commanders are invoking permission of this country to remain where they are until the vessels can be repaired, coaled and provisioned. Should the request be denied the United States will be looked upon as cruel and strengthen the belief that this country, if not an ally of Japan, is in sympathy with her, and recreant to Russia which country was the only foreign nation friendly to the federal government during the war. This incident is but the beginning of serious complications which are imminent as long as the flag of the United States remains in far-away Asia. The country lost its head seven years ago and rushed in a mad career of conquest. It is now reaping what it then sowed. Japan was naturally incensed at France for allowing Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet to recuperate in French waters; she will not be slow in manifesting resentment at the United States for a similar breach of neutrality if the Czar's ships remain at Manila beyond the time allowed by international agreement.

GOV. MONTAGUE in his speech in this city Saturday night made some complimentary remarks about Major Holmes Conrad, but he failed to refer to that part of the Major's speech in this city on Memorial Day when the latter said: "In political circles however, things are not as formerly. What would have been thought of James M. Mason or R. M. T. Hunter had they been seen going about the State begging people to vote for them?"

THE PEOPLE of Alexandria, or rather those who attended the meeting at the Opera House Saturday night, were the witnesses, for the first time in their lives, of the sad spectacle of a Governor of the State of Virginia descending to the plain of the ordinary office seeker and making a speech in his own behalf. Truly, times have changed.

POSSIBLY some of those in Alexandria who were so rampant a while ago to have United States Senators elected by the direct vote of the people, have changed their views since Saturday night when they saw their Governor on the stump and heard him resort to the tricks of the demagogue to secure votes for himself.

A PROMINENT republican of this city who attended the Montague meeting on Saturday night, said if Martin's friends could do no better than that, then Colonel Slemp would take the job himself.

SOME OF THE accounts of the Montague meeting held in this city Saturday night which were published in Washington papers, must have been written before the meeting.

Washington, D. C., June 5.

Secretary of the Navy Morton today issued an order directing that the Russian ships at Manila must be interned or depart forthwith. In view of the fact that the ships have been pronounced seaworthy, this order means that they will be disarmed and dismantled and be held in Manila until the close of the war. The officers and crews will doubtless be paroled. This action was taken by direction of the President and after consultation with prominent officers of the Bureau of Navigation. The President and his advisers are unanimously of the opinion that the neutrality of this country demanded that the Russian cruisers be interned or depart from Manila immediately. Of course, the ships will be interned.

Diplomats here have been forecasting events in the light of the recent Japanese victories and the resultant prostration of Russia. They believe they see in the triumph of the Japanese a guarantee for the peace of the world for the next half century. This, they think, will be assured by the combined armies and navies of Great Britain and Japan. According to information which has reached here an effort will be made to have the new treaty between Great Britain and Japan provide that whenever Japan shall be attacked, Great Britain shall come to her assistance; and that whenever Great Britain shall be attacked in her Asiatic possessions, Japan shall come to her aid. With such a combination the peace of Asia, in the opinion of diplomatists, would be assured for generations. India, which is England's most vulnerable point, would be safe from attack, and all of her important colonies in that part of the world would be enabled to continue their growth of commerce, prosperity and population, in security. In Europe the effects of the war are likely to be no less striking than in Asia. Russia's defeat will contribute to the aggrandisement of Germany, but the instinct of self-preservation which finds one of its expressions in the desire for the maintainance of the balance of power, is already making itself manifest. The determination that no one power on the continent of Europe shall achieve overwhelming preponderance is still strong. It is shown in the entente cordiale that has been established between England and France, and through the medium of the Morocan situation, it is believed here that an alliance between those two countries may be a development of the near future. The principal object in the world's politics seems to be just now to prevent the German Kaiser's bold ambitions from having full sway and thus to preserve the statue quo.

Rural free delivery routes are being ordered into effect by the Postoffice Department at an average rate of six hundred a month. The raveling of the ends of the testimony that the prosecution expects to put before the jury in the case of W. G. Crawford, indicted for his connection with the defrauding of the government in the purchase of postoffice supplies was begun this morning. Since the star government witness, Geo. E. Lorenz, gave his testimony practically all of the government case has been presented. The prosecution will rests its side for the case today. This morning Wade Chance, president of the Postal Lock and Device Company, took the stand. He was brought here by the government for the purpose of showing that he had very little to do with the management and policy of the company. He testified that he was only the nominal head and that Crawford directed workings of the company and made recommendations. He merely signed certain papers and checks. As far as his knowledge was concerned he did not even know whether the company kept a set of books.

That both France and Germany are taking an active part in the peace moves set on foot in this capital was made manifest by a long conference held at the White House this morning between President Roosevelt and the French Ambassador, M. Jusserand, which followed a similar conference last night between the President and the German Ambassador. Neither of the diplomats would make the slightest disclosure concerning their talks with the President. Immediately following M. Jusserand's visit, Commander Takeshita, naval attache of the Japanese legation, called on the President. It is supposed that his visit was in reference to the course taken by the government regarding the Russian ships.

Secretary Taft has issued an order extending for three years the time specified in the orignal order directing the removal of the obstructing bridges in Savannah river at Augusta, Georgia. These bridges are owned by the municipality and by private companies and the delay is intended to enable their owners to either equip them with draws or remove them entirely.

The wedding this afternoon of Miss Alletta van Reypen, daughter of the Surgeon General of the Navy, retired, and Baron Serge Alexander Korff, of Russia, was one of the notable society functions of the month. The ceremony took place at home of the bride' parents. The bride had no maids of honor, for the Russian custom omits them from the ceremony, but six of her dearest friends were near her while the service was being read. The wedding was followed by a reception at the bride's home which was attended by several hundred of the diplomatic and official set.

The spectacular features of King Alfonso's visit to Paris closed Saturday with the review at Vincennes in beautiful weather and in the presence of throngs of women, dressed in bright summer costumes, which lent additional brilliancy to the martial scene. About 25,000 troops, representing every branch of the French service, made a picture really dazzling. The evolutions were executed with the usual snap and precision of the French army, and won the admiration and applause of the young monarch. The King was greeted with continued popular enthusiasm going to and coming from the review. Alfonso will visit London this week. Extraordinary precautions are under way for his protection. King Edward has specially directed the home secretary to see that nothing is omitted to insure the visitor's safety and comfort.

No Settlement in Sight.

Adjustment of the teamsters' strike in Chicago by mediation seemed as remote last night as it did two months ago. Peace negotiations have been abandoned for the present, and the strike will be allowed to take its "natural course," according to President Shea, of the teamsters organization. All the business firms now involved in the trouble refuse to concede anything further in the controversy, which they now regard as a thing of the past. "Peace negotiations are off for all time," said Levy Mayer, chief counsel for the employers, last night. "We absolutely are finished with all conferences with the strikers. The only thing that prevented a settlemeni of the whole trouble Saturday night was pique on the part of President Shea because he had been slighted in the conferences and because of his arrest in connection with libel charges filed by Mr. Thorne, of Montgomery Ward & Co."

"The employers blocked a settlement Saturday night," said President Shea yesterday. "Their objection to the men wearing union buttons and a refusal to agree not to discriminate against the strikers was all that prevented the calling off of the strike."

Murder Trial.

Rochester, N. Y., June 5.—Before Justice Edwin A. Nash, in the Supreme Court, this morning, began the trial of Ervin M. Smith, on a charge of murder in the second degree, a trial that promises to be most sensational in local criminal history. Smith is charged with the murder of his sweetheart, "Birdie" Hart, a young country girl. Discovery of the murder was made during an investigation of an attempt to burn J. Whaller Company's packing house in the village of Webster, the home of the murdered girl and her lover. On the night of July 8, last, the packing house was fired, but the flames were extinguished before any material damage had resulted. Two nights later the night watchman at the packing house heard some one moving about the place, and made an investigation. The result of the search was the finding of the girl's body in a corner of the basement. The coroner's investigation showed that the girl was in a delicate condition, and that her death was due to strangulation. Smith, as the last person seen with the girl when she was alive, was suspected and ten days after the finding of the body, was arrested on a charge of murder.

Thorne manager of Montgomery Ward & Co.'s business, have been unable to locate him. A similar warrant charging criminal libel was sworn out for Cornelius P. Double Murder and Suicide.

Hillsboro, O., June 5.—The home of Edward Hines, a farmer living two miles north of Hillsboro, was the scene last night of what is now thought to have been a double murder, and suicide. When Hines and his wife who had been in Hillsboro to hear a baccalaureate sermon returned home and entered the house they stumbled over what proved to be the dead body of David Baldwin, a young man whom Hines had taken in about two years and cared for as if he were a son. A further examination disclosed the fact that in an upstairs bedroom, the daughter of Mrs. Hines, Miss Madge, aged 16, and a companion, Miss Nellie Bart, were also dead. The disordered room showed that a struggle had occurred, and it is thought that the young women fought for their lives to the last. A revolver was found in their room, and it was with this weapon that both were killed. Beside the dead body of the young man was found a shot gun, which had been discharged. He was lying on his back, with his hands across his breast. When found the young women were dressed for bed. One of them was lying on the bed and the other on the floor. It is learned on good authority that no attempt was made to criminally assault the young women. Bloodhounds have been sent for and they will immediately be put to work.

Gov. Montague's Speech.

Governor Montague spoke at the Opera House Saturday night. The house was by no means packed, as had been anticipated, although a representative audience was present, among which was a number of ladies. A band of music discoursed from the orchestra.

A number of Alexandrians, as well as residents of Alexandria and Fairfax counties, had taken seats on the stage previous to the entry of the governor, and at about 8:40 o'clock the curtain rose, which act was followed by applause and music.

Subsequently Councilman Albert Bryan walked to the footlights, and in a few appropriate remarks announced the governor, who advanced amid applause.

The speaker, after some introductory remarks, discanted upon the rights of the people to elect representatives, alleging that the present method of selecting United States Senators was unsatisfactory, and that this was the first time in Virginia when the people were given an opportunity to say who should represent them in the highest legislative body in the land. The speaker said Pennsylvania, New York and other States were under boss rule, and he arraigned the Senators from several States in which his language exceeded the critical. The governor said there were too many of a certain class in the Senate, and intimated that if the junior Senator from Virginia had any influence it was necessarily with the class of men the speaker excoriated. Should the speaker be chosen Senator his influence should not be with such men. [This last observation was intended as a rejoiner to Senator Martin's alleged assertion to the effect that were the governor elected he would have no influence in the Senate.] The governor dwelt long and earnestly over what no one was disposed to contradict that the people were equally as competent to select Senators as they are to chose members of the lower house of Congress, and was equally as positive in asserting that there were general as well as special interests that demanded attention. The American Senate, he said, should be responsible to the people, and he claimed that the latter were better qualified for their selection than legislatures. He charged Senator Martin with opposing the election of Senators by the people, and said while he did not intend to attack the junior Senator he purposed to criticise him and his first shaft was the charge that he had dominated conventions. Further on he said Senator Martin by his course implied that the people were not qualified to select Senators, and made thrusts at the present financial interests of the country represented by stocks, bonds and the corporations of the monetary world. The speaker referred to Senator Martin's labors in connection with the appropriation for Norfolk harbor, his departmental work, &c., but with the purpose of mimimizing it, although he at other times acknowledged the junior Senator had been diligent and said he had no disposition to disparage his labors. The Governor, however, said it was here that he parted company with Senator Martin, charging that in the latter's exertions for his own State he had performed but part of his duty and had not gone far enough. He said the Senator had never originated anything affecting the great interests of the American people, and that the country would soon be face to face with momentous issues, the speaker intimating that the time was drawing near when the junior Senator's position should be filled with a man of more gigantic powers. The Governor switched off on labor and capital, carefully threading his way in the labyrinth of issues which the two have brought to the birth, and emerged non-committal by asserting that whatsoever is just will take care of itself. Further on he talked of industrial combinations and compared them to political combinations, denied that he had said Mr. Martin was supported by railroads, but said that all such companies were fighting him (Governor Montague). The speaker did not want any vote not honestly cast and counted. His next rally was aimed at lobbyists and another at the tariff and reference made to the proposed purchases for the Panama canal, during which he said Senator Martin wanted supplies for the canal purchased in the United States. He then went into a history of Virginia's claim against the government for money loaned the United States during the war of 1812, its payment, the part he took in the settlement as well as that played by Senator Martin, at first mimimizing the latter's services in the matter and later acknowleding them, and attempted to make capital by charging the Senator with voting for a duty of $2 per thousand upon white pine lumber and appealing to the poor whose habitations are mostly made of wood; expatiated on the ship subsidy, criticized Senator Martin for being one of a junketing party and for not committing himself on certain measures. Further on he struggled earnestly to despoil the junior Senator of any credit in obtaining fifteen days vacation for navy yard employees, and charged the Senator with obstructing the measure. The speaker reiterated a claim he had made when he began his speech—that he had a right to run for the United States Senate—which no one has attempted to controvert. The Governor further on said he was not attempting to get another man's seat, but was a candidate for a seat that would be vacant March 4, 1907. Governor Montague talked much on what he assumed is Senator Martin's sky rocket political history, and was profuse in his praise of Senator Hunton, Hon. Holmes Conrad and the late General Fitzhugh Lee, all of whom had been sidetracked to make place for Senator Martin. He said the trio were men of experience but they were forced to give way to a man with no experience. Virginia, he claimed, had been astonished at such a procedure. He made the charge that the junior Senator had not been elected by the people but by the legislature. There should be a new regime; nothing would be hurt by a change as certain conditions had existed long enough. It is principles that count; not appropriations and department work. The latter made the democratic party no better than the republican. The Governor then formally announced his candidacy for the Senate. He said he is foot-free and untied; has no boss at home or in Washington, nor is a cog in any wheel. He appealed to his course as a public servant, referred to his stand on school books, his course in connection with the pardoning power, his vetoof bills, &c., but said he had nothing to exploit. He referred to newspaper attacks in one breath and to the American principle of free discussion in another, and plumed himself upon the assertion that he had never scratched a democratic ticket.

It is not uncharitable to say that from an argumentative point of view the speech was a failure, and there was an appavent disappointment on the part of many who had heard the Governor on other occasions.

Among those who occupied seats on the stage during the speaking were:

Ex-Mayor George L. Simpson, Mr. John M. Johnson, ex-Delegate William H. May, Alderman N. P. T. Burke, ex-State Senator S. R. Donohoe, of Fairfax; Capt. Albert Bryan, president of the Montague Club; State Senator Lewis H. Machen, Mr. Robert S. Jones, Dr. T. M. Jones, county treasurer F. W. Richardson, of Fairfax county; Maj. James E. King, Capt. P. J. Murphy, Dr. S. R. Donohoe, Carroll W. Pierce, county clerk George H. Rucker, of Alexandria county; A. S. Doniphan, Dr. Thomas B. Cochran, Police Commissioner Thomas A. Fisher, Charles Semmes, Rev. N. Harper, of Leesburg, W. H. Saunders, of Washington, and others.

RUSSIAN SHIPS AT MANILA.

Rear Admiral Enquist, who with three battered and disabled Russian cruisers, arrived at Manila Saturday, has asked for 14 days in which to repair, coal and provision his ships. The cruisers are all damaged below the waterline, which renders them unseaworthy.

Admiral Train appointed a board to investigate the condition of the Russian warships. The board will begin its investigation immediately.

The naval board examined into the condition of the ships, and reported that the Olga will require 60 days, the Aurora 30 days and the Jemtchug 7 days to effect repairs. Admiral Enquist has requested permission to repair at Manila, saying that he would be unable to sail except in a smooth sea.

It has been learned that when Admiral Train agreed to allow the Russians 14 days in which to coal, Admiral Enquist significantly replied that they would not be able to take aboard enough fuel to permit them to reach Vladivostok, as its weight would sink their hulls below their many insecure patches. The vessels will likely be interned at Manila.

The Japanese consul at Manila called on Governor General Wright twice yesterday to make inquiries regarding the disposition of the Russian vessels.

Admiral Train has offered the Russian ships the necessary coal in lieu of 14 days' stay at Manila, but there is a question whether the Russians will be able to carry such quanity of coal on account of their damaged hulls.

Prince Poteaten is among the wounded Russians in the hospital.

The deaths yesterday aboard the Russian ships now bring the total of killed up to 41, and there are five additional cases in the hospital. American navy surgeons are assisting the Russian surgeons in their work of caring for the wounded.

The battle had not ended when Admiral Enquist left with his squadron. He says that his squadron was complete when it entered the fight on the morning of May 27. He exchanged shots with the enemy at 10,000 yards. He attempted to pierce the Japanese line and make a dash for Vladivostok, but he was attacked by cruisers and torpedo boats and forced to make a running fight. The main attack of the Japanese was concentrated on the Russian battleships.

His own flagship was sunk and he transferred his flag to the Aurora. He was ultimately forced to flee to the southwest, taking that course at 10 o'clock Sunday night, and succeeded in making his escape with three of his ships in the darkness. He headed for Shanghai.

A heavy sea was running, which threatened to swamp the vessels, owing to their injuries below the water line, and in order to ease them as much as possible he headed to the south. He saw nothing of the enemy and sighted only a few merchantmen until he encountered the American squadron off Luzon.

It has proved itself to be the best remedy for whooping cough, which is prevalent on this end of the globe. It has never failed to relieve in any case where I have recommended it, and grateful mothers, after using it, are daily thanking me for advising them." This remedy is for sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of our son, GEORGE CHAUNCEY MILLER, who died eighteen years ago—June 4, 1887.

If love and care could death prevent,
Thy days would not so soon be spent;
And yet it seems so fresh the pain
We count them over and over again.

Weddings.

Miss Bella Laupheimer, of this city, and Mr. Samuel Levy, of Washington, were principals in a prettily-arranged home wedding at No. 311 Duke street yesterday afternoon, when they were united in marriage by Rabbi Louis Stern. The bride wore a very pretty gown of white organdie built on satin with veil caught with a diamond star, a gift of the groom, and carried a bridal bouquet of white roses. The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. Henrietta Laupheimer. Miss Ida Levy, sister of the groom, was the maid of honor, and wore a dainty gown of white lace over taffeta and carried carnations. Mr. Sylvern Laupheimer, brother of the bride, was attendant to the groom. The house was prettily decorated in green and white. The gifts were numerous and handsome. Refreshments were served during the reception that followed the ceremony, and the couple left for the south on the Norfolk steamer amid a shower of rice and well wishes of their many friends.

On Saturday afternoon, June 3, the wedding of Mr. Howard L. Seiler and Miss Goldie Irene, daughter of Mr. Edgar L. and Mrs. Lucy A. Crump, took place at the residence of the bride's parents, No. 1105 Prince street. It was a quiet wedding and immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left for Detroit, Mich., their future home, followed by the best wishes of their many friends. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. Stump, of the M. E. Church South.

Deaths.

Mr. William M. Glasgow, formerly engineer at the gas works, died suddenly at his home, 120 south Royal street, about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The deceased was paralyzed some time ago and was compelled to relinquish his position. Mr. Glasgow is survived by his widow and four children. Mr. Glasgow was a son of the late Milton Glasgow who many years ago was a conductor on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad.

Mrs. Anna Amelia Cruit died in Washington last Friday, and was buried at 3 o'clock this afternoon from Mr. B. Wheatley's undertaking parlors. She lived here for many years with her neice, Mrs. Chas. Mander. Rev. Dr. Brooke conducted the services.

Mintie Ware, an elderly colored woman, died at her home on south St. Asaph street yesterday evening.

A colored youth named Stewart, living in the northwestern part of the city, died last night after a short illness from pneumonia. The deceased went swimming a few days ago and contracted the illness which caused his death.

Accused Dismissed

The case of a young man who had been arrested on suspicion of entering a residence and taking sundry articles therefrom came up in the Police Court at 5 o'clock last Saturday evening. Commonwealth's Attorney Brent was present to conduct the prosecution and Mr. C. C. Carlin appeared on behalf of the accused. The former asked that the case be postponed until today, but the defense demurred, insisting that as there was no evidence before the court by which the accused could be held, he should be dismissed. Justice Caton was ready to hear any evidence which might be produced, but none being presented he concluded to discharge the accused. The Commonwealth's Attorney announced his intention to withdraw from the case when the motion to postpone was decided.

Rev. Mr. Cavnaugh.

Rev. John Cavnaugh, of the Free Methodist persuasion, formerly of this city, is still located at Whitehaven, Pa., where he is attracking the citadels of the arch-enemy. He is a regular contributor to the newspapers of that place, copies of which he sends to friends in this city. He recently published the following rules for killing a church: Don't come; if you do come, come late; come determined to find fault; don't for the world ever think of praying for your pastor or church; don't attend prayer-meeting, and if you do, don't take part; don't encourage your pastor, but tell his faults to others; don't come to Sabbath school, it looks childish; never speak to another about Christ, your pastor should do all that kind of work; see that his salary is always behind; don't take your denominational paper.

The New Ferry.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the new ferry house, wharf and slip on the river front at the foot of M street, Washington. The frame work of the building is up and much of the exterior metal sheathing is in place. The roof, which is of slag, is completed, and but little remains to be done except to put on the cornices and the ornamental work about the new building. The big pile driver is at work driving the piling for the slip. Mr. John Callahan, manager of the Norfolk and Washington line, is unable as yet to say when he will be ready to put a steamer on the route between Washington and Alexandria, but it will be within the next month. Work on the alterations at the Alexandria terminal will, it is stated, be resumed this week, and will be pushed to completion.

Defenses to be Attacked.

Sixteen warships will attack the defenses of Washington and Baltimore at midnight June 11 and continue their offensive operations for six days and nights. Meanwhile, the fortresses along Chesapeake bay and the Potomac river, constituting the artillery districts of the Chesapeake, Washington and Baltimore, will put forth every defense of which they are capable. These exercises are to constitute the only joint operations of the army and navy during the year. They have been designated "joint exercises" to distinguish them from the more elaborate programme of "combined army and navy maneuvers" which was first planned, but which failed of approval for lack of an adequate appropriation from Congress.

Mr. M. B. Harlow will tomorrow attend a meeting in Richmond of the executive committee of the Board of Trade, of which he is a member.

At Arlington.

About 5,000 persons participated in the annual decoration of graves of Confederate soldiers at Arlington National Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The crowd was the largest in years. Judge John Goode, of Virginia, was the orator of the day. At the conclusion of the speech there occurred one of the most beautiful features of the day. It was the unveiling of the southern cross of flowers presented by the A. J. McLaurin Camp, No. 305, United Sons of Confederate Veterans, in the center of the section set apart for the Confederate dead.

Ascension Day Services.

The special services in observance of Ascension Day, by Old Dominion Commandery, Knights Templar, in the Methodist Protestant Church yesterday afternoon, were attended by a large congregation who were greatly interested in the services and sermon. The programme which had been prepared for the occasion, and which was published in Saturday's Gazette, was carried out in a creditable manner.

The Carnival.

The Jones-Adams Carnival Company which will exhibit on the old fair grounds for a week, commencing today, has arrived. The exhibitions will be under the auspices of the Alexandria Light Infantry. The company comes with flattering indorsements. The members of the Light Infantry are taking an active interest in the benefit and expect to realize a considerable sum.

Mr. J. Stanley Neale has gone to King William county, where he will spend the next two weeks.

Miss Gault Norton has gone to Bluemont to spend a few weeks.

Police Court.

The cases before the police court this morning were of a trivial nature. A white man, who was charged with vagrancy, was dismissed, as was also a man charged with drunkenness. A conductor, charged with obstructing a street crossing with a train, was also dismissed.

Meetings.

The annual meetings were held in this city today of the stockholders of the Columbia Marble Quarrying Company, the Washington Real Estate Company, the United States Realty Company and the Anacostia Brick Company.

A Fearful Fate.

It is a fearful fate to have to endure the terrible torture of Piles. Also best for cuts, burns and injuries. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons Druggist.

Cuban Diarrhoea.

U. S. soldiers who served in Cuba during the Spanish war know what this disease is, and that ordinary remedies have little more effect than so much water. Cuban diarrhoea is almost as severe and dangerous as a mild attack of cholera. There is one remedy, however, that can always be depended upon as will be seen by the following certificate from Mrs. Minnie Jacobs of Houston, Texas: "I hereby certify Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy cured my husband of a severe attack of Cuban diarrhoea, which he brought home from Cuba. We had several doctors but they did him no good. One bottle of this remedy cured him, as our neighbors will testify. I than God for so valuable a medicine." For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

TO THE OWNERS OF DOGS.

Mayor's Office,
Alexandria, Va., June 1, 1905.

All persons owning or intending to keep any animal of the dog or canine species must come forward on or before and take out a license for the same from the Auditor. After the NINETEENTH OF JUNE all persons owning or harboring dogs without the required license can be fined (as the laws on the subject require) $5 for every dog so owned or harbored.

Complaint has been frequently made that many persons fail to take out their license, and that others pay on one or two dogs when owning and harboring more, or who send such dogs away during the summer months and bring them back in the fall.

Attention has been called to this evasion of the law, and the policemen will report all such cases, and fines can be imposed upon those who fail to take out licenses after trial in the Police Court.

The police officers will be required to report all violations of this law.

☞In order to avoid any mistakes persons who make application for licenses would do well to write their names and number of residence, street, &c., on a card or paper when making application for their licenses to the Auditor. FRED. J. PAFF, Mayor.

Anti-War Demonstration.

At a great demonstration yesterday evening in the Pavlovsk Gardens, near Tsarskoe-Selo, Russia, the 5,000 persons present clamored for a funeral march in memory of the Russian sailors who had lost their lives in the naval disaster in the Sea of Japan. The members of the orchestra became alarmed and fled from the platform, when M. Novikoff, former mayor of Baku, rose and said:

"Let us all by rising show respect for the victims. Down with the war. We have had enough blood."

Some 80 policemen entered from either side of the hall and elbowed their way through the crowd toward M. Novikoff, whereupon cries were raised of "Let us attack the police." Chairs were seized and hurled at the police, the crowd being led by a colonel with a drawn sword. The policemen fled precipitately.

Order being restored, a number of speeches were delivered on the national crisis. Suddenly the police, reinforced to between 200 and 300, again invaded the hall and rushed on the audinece with drawn swords. The people defended themselves with chairs and sticks, but after 10 minutes were driven from the hall into the garden, where there was a battalion of Tirailleurs, who raised their rifles to their shoulders preliminary to the order to fire being given, causing a panic.

The public fled towards the exits and, finding them closed, smashed the doors and windows of the hall and so gained the street. Many persons were injured, some so seriously that they had to be taken to a hospital.

Nan Patterson Leaves Stage.

Discouraged by the adverse criticism that has greeted her reappearance on the stage, following her recent trial for the murder of Caesar Young, Nan Patterson, broken in spirit and disheartened, Saturday night severed her connection with "The Romance of Panama" company, with which she was traveling, and left Altoona, Pa., yesterday for her home in Washington. Miss Patterson was greeted by a small house Saturday night, and the few women present left early, notwithstanding that much that was objectionable was expurgated by the management of the playhouse.
Miss Patterson, with broken voice and tears in her eyes, in an interview just before she boarded the train, said:
"When I went on the stage I adopted the only means left me to earn a living, and I am awfully sorry the people have so severely condemned me. I wanted to do right, and could see no harm in going on the stage, which is my profession. I owe thousands of dollars, and don't know how in the world I am ever going to pay it by any other way. I believe that much of the criticism was due to the company with which I was traveling. It was not such as everybody would care to patronize, and, of course, I have had to stand the blame for it. I really did not know much about it when I signed a contract, and rather than bear the harsh treatment that I have been subjected to I have decided to leave the stage for a time at least."

Torture of a Preacher.
The story of the torture of Rev. O. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church, of Harpersville, N. Y., will interest you. He says: "I suffered agonies, because of a persistent cough, resulting from the grip. I had to sleep sitting up in bed. I tried many remedies, without relief, until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption Coughs and Colds, which entirely cured my cough, and saved me from consumption." A grand cure for diseased conditions of Throat and Lungs. At E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists; price 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Found a Cure for Dyspepsia.
Mrs. S. Lindsay, of Fort William, Ontario, Canada, who was suffering quite a number of years from dyspepsia and great pains in the stomach, was advised by her druggist to take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. She did so and says, "I find that they have done me a great deal of good. I have never had any suffering since I began using them." If troubled with dyspepsia or indigestion why not take these Tablets, get well and stay well? For sale by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

Short Sermons For No Hats.
Short sermons for no hats is the unique agreement between Rev. J. O. Thomas, pastor of Laurel Street Methodist Church, Richmond, and the ladies of his congregation. Mr. Thomas made the statement at the end of a sermon last Sunday that he would be obliged to them if they would leave their hats at home. "You will be so much more comfortable," said the pastor, "and if you will do it my sermons will be short during the hot weather." The ladies received his request with enthusiasm and agreed to it without a dissenting voice.

Quality vs. Quantity.
Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspesia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and conveys the nutrient properities to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, Weak Heart, etc. Sold by W. F. Creighton, 401 King street, and corner Queen and Patrick.
